In 2012 the largest international conference for companion animal professionals will be held in the United Kingdom – as the British Small Animal Veterinary Association has the privilege of hosting the WSAVA/FECAVA/BSAVA Congress.

As more than 8000 professionals are expected to attend we have opened registration early - from 1st August. You can book online at www.bsava.com/congress.

Registering early means you could win a prize - book in August, and you will go into a draw every month until December – so that's five changes to win. Every month, everyone registered for the event will go into the prize draw. Prizes include:

- Free registration for you and your friends or colleagues for Congress 2013 (up to a value of £1000!)
- The entire BSAVA manual library for you or your practice – including the latest titles from Congress 2012. Worth over £3000! Kindly sponsored by Willows Veterinary Centre and Referral Service
- Laptop computer to help you stay connected on the move and do more in less time

You don't have to do anything other than register – either for yourself or for your practice – every person who pays for a registration between now and 29th December will go into the draw.

For this special WSAVA/FECAVA/BSAVA Congress there is a really broad and fascinating programme, with more for vets and nurses, plus a brilliantly expanded management programme and a new registration option for practice managers. This really is now a conference for the whole practice team.

So explore the programme, book your hotel and travel arrangements, and register for Congress as soon as you can. Visit www.bsava.com/congress for full details and terms and conditions.
